RIWWA Meeting - May 11, 2006
Christies, off 351Thames Street, Newport, RI

9:00 – 9:30 AM Registration and Coffee

9:30 – 10:15 AM “Hydraulic Modeling for Pro-active Decision Making”

by: Rajan Ray, Services Director, IDModeling Inc.

With the latest Initial Distribution System Evaluation (IDSE) requirement from the EPA more utilities are assessing their need for a hydraulic model or looking to update their existing hydraulic model. IDModeling will discuss how hydraulic models are proving to be extremely valuable decision making tools for assisting planning, design, operations, and maintenance of water distribution systems.

10:15 – 11:00 AM “Inspection of 78” and 102” Transmission Mains for Providence Water Supply Board”

by: Paul Gadoury, Dir. Of Engineering, Providence Water & Ian W. Mead, CDM, Providence, RI

With the rupture and repair of a 102” water main several years ago, Providence Water began an inspection program of large diameter water mains. This presentation will describe the details of the inspection program including an innovative electromagnetic inspection of the pre-stressed concrete cylinder pipe, real time audio monitoring of wire breaks, and submerged tunnel inspections using a long-distance remote operated vehicle (LDROV).
